THE ORGANIZATION

Since 1963, when Al Davis first took over the failing Oakland franchise that had won only nine of 42 league games in the initial three seasons of the new American Football League, and pledged to build the finest organization in sports, the Raiders have totally dominated professional sports in terms of consistent victory.

During that memorable 24-year span the Raiders lost only 99 of the 347 league games played and have had only two losing seasons. With a record of 237-99-11 the Los Angeles Raiders continue to stand alone as the only National Football League team with a winning percentage of better than .700 for the 1963-1986 period. Commitment to Excellence has never been an idle phrase to those who proudly represent the Raider organization.

Equally impressive with this three-decade domination of professional football has been the Raiders record as the most successful organization in all of the pro sports world for the past 23 years.

TOP PROFESSIONAL SPORTS RECORDS 1963-1986

Professional Sport	Team	Winning Percentage
1. Football	LOS ANGELES RAIDERS	.705
2. Basketball	Boston Celtics	.664
3. Hockey	Montreal Canadiens	.657
4. Baseball	Baltimore Orioles	.574

For three decades the Raiders have continually defied the odds to maintain their unparalleled level of excellence as professional sports' winningest team. Since 1967, when the Raiders won the American Football League Championship in their very first season in the playoffs, the Silver and Black have battled their way into the playoffs 15 different years — years that have seen the Raiders play in 11 Championship games, capture 13 Division Championships, the American Football League Championship, three American Football Conference Championships and three World Championships of Professional Football.

Since 1970, when Monday Night Football began, the Raiders have totally dominated this prime-time series with an incredible 24-4-1 record. Since 1976, when the Raiders won their first World Championship, the Silver and Black is the only team to triumph in three Super Bowls. In the 1980's, the Raiders are the only AFC team to win the Super Bowl, doing so twice — in 1980 and again in 1983. Since 1980, four proud wearers of the Silver and Black have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, each in his first year of eligibility.

The Sixties, Seventies and Eighties have indeed been "Decades of Destiny" for the Raider organization and its fans.

RAIDER OWNERS

AL DAVIS Managing General Partner

A total commitment to excellence has marked the three-time World Champion Raiders monumental rise during the last 24 years to the very top of the pro sports world. During these decades of destiny the Raiders battled their way to the best record in professional sports.

In these memorable 24 years the Raiders have had 21 winning seasons, including 16 in a row from 1965 through the 1980 World Championship season.

The astute, fearless leader who charted, then guided the progress of the Raider organization during the 24 challenging years is owner-managing general partner Al Davis.

Davis' 27-year professional football story, from assistant coach of the Chargers, to head coach and general manager of the Raiders, to Commissioner of the American Football League and finally to principal owner and chief executive officer of pro sports' winningest team — the Los Angeles Raiders — is a standard that no one in the history of professional sports can match for winning and excellence.

In April, 1966, the then 36-year old Davis, head coach and general manager of the Raiders, became Commissioner of the American Football League. This was a post he accepted with some reluctance, for first and foremost Al Davis was a football coach, and knew that assuming the commissionership would in all probability mean an end to his coaching career. But AFL owners, needing drive and direction in their battle with the rival National Football League, prevailed on Davis to accept the position. He was described by AFL president Ralph Wilson as, "a coaching genius and astute administrator." AFL owners pointed to his brilliant coaching, recruiting and administrative record and the unique high esteem in which he was held by players, coaches and media throughout the country.

Just eight weeks later, when pro football's two major leagues put an end to their six year war, Davis was acclaimed nationally as the driving force who brought the leagues to the conference table. When the historic merger was completed, Davis resigned his post as AFL Commissioner.

In 1969, he was once again a prime force in the dramatic realignment of professional football when two 13-team conferences — the AFC and NFC — were formed for 1970. He played a vital role in the development of the game as a key participant in the prestigious NFL Competition Committee and, as a member of the NFL Owners Executive Committee, continues to be a major force in the growth and direction of all phases of professional football.

Al Davis first came to the Raiders in January, 1963, dedicated to rescuing the faltering Oakland franchise and building the finest organization in professional sports. Just 33, Davis was the youngest man in pro football to hold the demanding dual positions of head coach and general manager.

But Davis already possessed 14 years coaching experience. He had been tabbed a "young coaching genius" by Sports Illustrated and "the most inventive mind in the country" by Scholastic Coach magazine. The Raiders, with only nine wins in their 42-game history, were failing badly on the field and in the front office and survival of both the franchise and the young league were at stake.

But 1963 saw the start of one of the great rehabilitation jobs in sports history. Introducing a meticulously designed, explosive offense and entirely new concepts in team defense.

the Raiders — "picked to finish dead last" — thundered to a 10-4 record and just missed the Division Championship.

Davis was named Coach of the Year by Associated Press, United Press International, Sports Illustrated, Sporting News and his fellow coaches. He became the first sports figure ever honored by the Chamber of Commerce as Oakland's Young Man of the Year. Aside from his deep love of the Raiders, Davis remains vitally interested in all phases of sports, both college and professional, as well as local, national and international events.

Perhaps his most singular honor is having made a record five presentations of inductees to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio. The five great players to have selected Al Davis to make the presentation speeches on their behalf are Lance Alworth, Jim Otto, George Blanda, Willie Brown and Gene Upshaw.

Al Davis was born July 4, 1929 in Brockton, Massachusetts, but raised in Brooklyn, New York. He attended Wittenberg College and Syracuse University, earning a degree in English while playing football, basketball and baseball.

In 1950, he was named line coach at Adelphi College in New York. His innovative technical football articles published in the leading coaching magazines gained him wide attention and acclaim. He then went into the Army, being assigned as head football coach at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia. There he molded a national power service team and capped one season by defeating the University of Maryland, national collegiate champions, in a squad game.

Davis served on the staff of the NFL's Baltimore Colts in 1954, at age 24, concentrating on player personnel work. During 1955-56, he was line coach and chief recruiter at The Citadel. He then spent three years at the University of Southern California as line coach. In 1959, Davis also was in charge of defense at USC.

In 1960, head coach Sid Gillman hired Davis as offensive end coach of the newly formed Los Angeles Chargers. There Davis developed the most feared and imitated passing attack in football and kept the Chargers in the very forefront in the fight for college talent. From the Chargers in Los Angeles, and then in San Diego, it was on to successfully meet the challenges with the Raiders in Oakland in 1963 and then in Los Angeles in 1982.

TOM FLORES

Head Coach

Tom Flores, now entering his ninth year at the helm of the Raiders and 22nd year with the organization, has established himself among the most outstanding head coaches in National Football League history.

Flores has more than met the test — guiding the Raiders to two World Championships, two American Conference Championships, three AFC West Division Championships as well as a tie for fourth, plus eleven post-season game appearances.

With a league record of 78-43-0 in his first eight seasons, Flores has won at a pace giving him an opportunity to become only the third NFL coach in the modern era to win 100 league games in his first ten years.

In 132 league and post-season games as head coach of the Raiders, Flores has built a remarkable record of 64-35-0 against AFC opponents and 22-11-0 in interconference play against NFC foes. In nationally-televised Monday Night Football, Flores has an outstanding 13-3-0 total.

Following the strike-shortened 1982 campaign in which the Raiders had a regular season record of 8-1, untopped in the NFL, Flores was named "Coach of the Year." He joined three previous Raider coaches who had achieved similar recognition during the past three decades — Al Davis in 1963, John Rauch in 1967 and John Madden in 1969.

Flores, now 50, had been on the Raider staff as receivers coach since 1972 when named head coach on February 9, 1979. He had earlier quarterbacked the Raiders during six of the formative years for pro football's winningest team, 1960-61, 1963-66.

The Fresno, California native attended nearby Sanger High School where he starred in football, basketball and baseball. He then attended Fresno City College where he quarterbacked the 1954 and 1955 teams, captained the 1955 squad and was Honorable Mention Junior College All-America.

Flores moved on to College of the Pacific where he starred in football for two seasons and lettered in baseball and basketball while earning his bachelor of arts in education. In 1956, he was the sixth-ranked college passer in the nation and finished fourth nationally in total offense. The same year he received honorable mention acclaim on All-America and All-Pacific Coast teams and was selected to play in the East-West Shrine game.

In 1958, Flores signed a professional contract with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League but was unable to play due to a recurring shoulder ailment which developed during his senior season in college. He was again hampered by the shoulder problem when trying out with the Washington Redskins in 1959. Shortly thereafter, he underwent shoulder surgery and started a teaching career.

In 1960, Tom Flores was signed by the Oakland Raiders of the newly-formed American Football League and began a program to rehabilitate his shoulder. In that initial AFL season, Flores beat out a dozen quarterback candidates to start for the Raiders and led the entire league in completion percentage and fewest interceptions. The following season Flores finished second in the league in passing. Prior to the 1962 season Flores was stricken with a non-infectious lung ailment which forced him out for the year and threatened an end to his football playing career. But after a year of complete rest, he was declared medically sound and reported to new Raider Head Coach and General Manager Al Davis.

Flores was brought along slowly in 1963 before returning to the lineup. The Raiders finished strong with a 10-4 record, including eight victories in nine games started by Flores, to finish just one game short of the championship. This was the first of the 21 winning seasons the Raider organization has recorded. In the final game of the 1963 season, Flores threw six touchdown passes against the Houston Oilers, a club record that still stands, enroute to ranking as the number two passer in the AFL. In the next three seasons, Flores added 45 touchdown passes to finish his Raider playing career with 92 touchdowns, third best total in Raider history.

In 1967, Flores was traded to the Buffalo Bills where he played two years. He then spent the 1969 and 1970 seasons as a quarterback with the Kansas City Chiefs, earning the first of his four Super Bowl rings when the AFL Chiefs downed the NFL Minnesota Vikings 23-7 in Super Bowl IV.

Flores began his coaching career in 1971 as quarterback coach for the Buffalo Bills. In February of 1972, he returned to the Raider organization as receivers coach, helping to continue a passing game that was the most feared, respected and imitated in professional football. During his seven seasons as an assistant with the Raiders, the Raiders were in the playoffs six times, won five Division Championships, the AFC Championship and the World Championship of professional football.

In 1980, only his second year as head coach, Flores guided the Raiders to a World Championship with a 27-10 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles in Super Bowl XV. In 1983, he led the Raiders to their third World Championship with a dominating 38-9 win over the Washington Redskins in Super Bowl XVIII. These are the only two Super Bowls won by an AFC team during the Eighties.

Flores is one of only two people in NFL history to have won Super Bowl championship rings as a player (with the Kansas City Chiefs), as an assistant coach (with the Oakland Raiders) and as a head coach (with the Oakland Raiders and Los Angeles Raiders).

The Flores family includes wife Barbara, an intermediate level educator and holder of a master's degree in education, and twin 25-year-old sons Mark and Scott, and 22-year-old daughter, Kim.

WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP RINGS

The Raiders World Championship rings — awarded to players, coaches, staff and owners after the dominating victories in Super Bowl XI, Super Bowl XV and Super Bowl XVIII — are renowned as the most memorable pieces of championship team jewelry ever produced. The rings were produced by Lenox Awards of St. Charles, Illinois, whose staff developed creative concepts incorporating the explicit guidelines established by the Raiders — white gold, a raised football-shaped crest of diamonds on a black surface and a design based on “massive excellence” that would recognize these crowning achievements by the Raider organization.

The Super Bowl XVIII ring design features three large diamonds to represent the three World Championships won within eight years, each centered in a football-shaped crest plus an additional 20 five-point diamonds. The ring was developed by Raider Managing General Partner Al Davis, Head Coach Tom Flores, Executive Assistant Al LoCasale and Lenox Awards President Tom Marzullo.

The Super Bowl XI ring design, featuring a large center diamond and 26 five-point diamonds on the ring face was developed by Raider Managing General Partner Al Davis, Head Coach John Madden, Executive Assistant Al LoCasale and Lenox Awards artist Elliot Ingberg.

The Super Bowl XV ring design, featuring two large center diamonds to symbolize the two World Championships won within five years, and 33 five-point diamonds on the ring face, was developed by Raider Managing General Partner Al Davis, Head Coach Tom Flores, Executive Assistant Al LoCasale and Lenox Awards President Tom Brasher.

SUPER BOWL XVIII

Tampa Stadium, Tampa, Florida January 22, 1984

LOS ANGELES RAIDERS 38, WASHINGTON 9 — The Los Angeles Raiders dominated the Washington Redskins from the beginning in Super Bowl XVIII and achieved the most lopsided victory in Super Bowl history, surpassing Green Bay's 35-10 win over Kansas City in Super Bowl I. The Raiders took a 7-0 lead 4:52 into the game when Derrick Jensen blocked a Jeff Hayes punt and recovered it in the end zone for a touchdown. With 9:14 remaining in the first half, Raiders quarterback Jim Plunkett threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Cliff Branch to complete a three-play, 65-yard drive. Washington cut the Raiders' lead to 14-3 on a 24-yard field goal by Mark Moseley. With seven seconds left in the first half, Raiders linebacker Jack Squirek intercepted a Joe Theismann pass at the Redskins' 5-yard line and ran it in for a touchdown to give Los Angeles a 21-3 halftime lead. In the third period, running back Marcus Allen, who rushed for a Super Bowl record 191 yards on 20 carries, increased the Raiders' lead to 35-3 on touchdown runs of 5 and 74 yards. Allen was named the game's most valuable player.

SUPER BOWL XV

Louisiana Superdome, New Orleans, La. January 25, 1981

OAKLAND 27, PHILADELPHIA 10 — Jim Plunkett threw three touchdown passes, including an 80-yarder to Kenny King, as the Raiders became the first wildcard team to win the Super Bowl. Plunkett's touchdown bomb to King — the longest play in Super Bowl history — gave Oakland a decisive 14-0 lead in the first period. Linebacker Rod Martin had set up Oakland's first touchdown, a two-yard reception by Cliff Branch, with a 16-yard interception return to the Eagles' 32 yard line. The Eagles never recovered from that early deficit, managing only a Tony Franklin field goal (30 yards) and an eight-yard touchdown pass from Ron Jaworski to Keith Krepfle the rest of the game. Plunkett completed 13 of 21 for 261 yards and was named the game's most valuable player. The Raiders had to win three playoff games to get to the championship game. Oakland defeated Houston 27-7 at home followed by road victories over Cleveland, 14-12 and San Diego, 34-27. Oakland's Mark van Eeghen was the game's leading rusher with 80 yards on 19 carries. Martin finished the game with three interceptions, a Super Bowl record.

SUPER BOWL XI

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, California

January 9, 1977

OAKLAND 32, MINNESOTA 14 — The Raiders won their first NFL Championship before a record Super Bowl crowd plus 81 million television viewers, the largest audience ever to watch a sporting event. The Raiders gained a record-breaking 429 yards, including running back Clarence Davis' 137 yards rushing. Wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff made four key receptions, which earned him the game's Most Valuable Player Trophy. Oakland scored on three successive possessions in the second quarter to build a 16-0 halftime lead. Errol Mann's 24-yard field goal opened the scoring, then the AFC champions put together drives of 64 and 35 yards, scoring on a one-yard pass from Ken Stabler to Dave Casper and a one-yard run by Pete Banaszak. The Raiders increased their lead to 19-0 on a 40-yard field goal in the third quarter, but Minnesota responded with a 12-play, 58-yard drive late in the period, with Fran Tarkenton passing eight yards to wide receiver Sammy White to cut the deficit to 19-7. Two fourth-quarter interceptions clinched the title for the Raiders. One set up Banaszak's second touchdown run, the other resulted in cornerback Willie Brown's Super Bowl record 75-yard interception return.

SUPER BOWL II

Orange Bowl, Miami, Florida

January 14, 1968

GREEN BAY 33, OAKLAND 14 — The veteran Green Bay Packers won the Super Bowl title for the second straight year, downing the tough young AFL champion Oakland Raiders in a game that drew the first $3 million dollar gate in football history. Bart Starr was chosen the game's most valuable player as he completed 13 of 24 passes for 202 yards and one touchdown. Green Bay took a 13-0 lead early but the Raiders closed to 13-7 on a Daryle Lamonica pass to Bill Miller. The Packers widened the gap to 16-7 on a field goal just before halftime, following a Raider fumbled punt return at midfield. Don Chandler kicked four field goals and All-Pro cornerback Herb Adderly capped the Green Bay scoring with a 60-yard run with a fourth quarter interception. The Raiders scored again on another Lamonica to Miller touchdown pass in this final appearance as Packers coach for Vince Lombardi. Oakland averaged 5.3 yards per rush against 3.9 yards by the Packers. The Raiders also had the advantage in net passing yards 186 to 162 but three fumbles hurt the Silver and Black.

RAIDERS RADIO NETWORK

Local, regional and national rights to Los Angeles Raiders English language radio are held by Bob Speck Productions, a Los Angeles firm headed by Bob Speck — a 30-year veteran in sports broadcast packaging. A minority interest in the English language radio package is held by Sports World Marketing, Inc.

The Speck Productions partnership has met the great demand for Raider action by developing an expanding, far-reaching radio network in eleven states to air Raider football throughout California, the Western United States and other prime markets.

Los Angeles Raiders English language broadcasts will again originate on KRLA (1110 AM). KRLA, owned and operated by Greater Media, Inc. is headed by Vice President and General Manager Bob Moore. The 50,000 watt station covers the primary California market and ranks among the most powerful stations in the West.

Raider football will also be carried in the growing Orange County market by KIKF-FM (94.3 FM), top-ranked FM station in that area. KIKF-FM is owned and operated by President and General Manager N. Arthur Astor.

Bill King, highly-acclaimed radio voice of the Raiders since 1966, will handle play-by-play for the 22nd consecutive season. King enters the '87 season having already broadcast 440 Raider games (104 preseason, 305 league and 31 postseason games). He will be paired with KRLA Sports Director Rich Marotta, winner of nine Golden Mike awards, who will be in his sixth season providing expert color commentary and analysis.

Game day coverage of the Silver and Black on KRLA Radio begins two hours prior to kickoff with four highly informative, colorful 15 minute shows — "Decades of Destiny," "Behind the Scenes," "Raider Notebook" and "Inside Raider Football" hosted by Rich Marotta, Raider Executive Assistant Al LoCasale and special guests from the Raider organization. Next comes Raider Countdown" with veteran sportscaster Tom Harmon, followed by the "Tom Flores Show," hosted by Tom Harmon with Raider Head Coach Tom Flores.

The "Raiders Pre-Game Show," with Bill King and Rich Marotta, begins 25 minutes before kickoff. King also handles "Raider Wrap-Up" immediately following the game, while Marotta travels to the locker room to interview key players on the "Locker Room Report."

A new program added this year to Raider game day coverage on KRLA is "NFL Report," a post-game update following "Locker Room Report." "NFL Report" will feature scores of all the NFL games, changes in the standings, the big plays and heroes and what it all means to the Raiders and their fans. "NFL Report" provides an important finish to Raider football activities on game day.

In addition to its extensive game day programming, KRLA Radio also airs "Raider Report" seven days a week during the season, providing daily up-dates on the Silver and Black.

Los Angeles Raiders Spanish language broadcasts in 1987 originate on powerful KWKW (1300 AM) a 5,000 watt station that is now the prime sports carrier to the vast Hispanic audience in Southern California. KWKW is owned and operated by Lotus Communications, Inc., headed by President Howard Kalmenson, with operations directed by Vice President John Paley.

Local, regional, national and international rights to Los Angeles Raiders Spanish language radio are held by Sports World Marketing, Inc., who have joined with Lotus Communications to develop an expanded Raider Spanish Language Radio Network.
